He doesn't like the name. Lots of questions about how the social media part - how, who, what where. Went directly to the write review area. Saw the ratings area as a direct name. Account should be a dropdown menu - expected. Expects account to be account name / user. Movie picture recognized. Thought the lines on the page were top comments / keywords etc. Expects a view-more button or something on the bottom of the page.

What does the user think is happening in part B of the mockups

Icon is a picture of user. Click on number of stars to review it. Box is text he's already written. After looking at part B - thinks part A block of text is description of the movie. Submit button easy to see - use.

Make displaying the movies and the search feature for separate movies unique - that is one of the aspects of a movie website that is not currently capitalized on by IMDB etc
